DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's election with traverse of group III, drawn to pharmaceutical or cosmetic formulation comprising a lipopeptide, claims 29-41 and 44, in the reply filed on 6/15/09 is acknowledged.

Applicant's traversal is on the grounds that the shared special technical feature of the claims is a composition comprising a peptide antigen specific for a T cell population, wherein the peptide antigen is coupled covalently with a lipid radical. However, as noted in the initial restriction requirement, said technical feature is not a special technical feature as it does not make a contribution over the prior art of Foussat et al., and Applicant has not provided any argument as to how the lipopeptide of the instant claims is different than that of Foussat et al. Applicant further argues that a full search of the elected product would reveal all relevant prior art directed to the other claimed methods. However, examination of methods requires consideration of factors such as dosage, efficacy, and timing, which are not necessarily relevant to product claims. Furthermore, a search for a method requires a consideration of a specific set of method steps, while a product might have been used for any purpose and still be relevant prior art. Thus, a search and examination of the entire application would be an undue burden. Applicant further argues that the International Search report indicated unity of invention was present. However, the legal conclusions of a foreign agency have no bearing on the prosecution of the instant application.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 1-28 and 42-43 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claims 29-41 and 44 are being acted upon.

2. Upon reconsideration, a supplemental species restriction is required, as outlined below.

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Applicant is required to elect:

A specific pharmaceutical composition comprising a lipopeptide, and further comprising a peptide/protein or a T cell population.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowed generic claim. Currently, the following claim(s) are generic: 29-30, 37-40, and 44.

4. The groups of inventions listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The species lack unity of invention for the same reasons set forth in the restriction requirement mailed 4/15/09

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention or species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions have unity of invention (37 CFR 1.475(a)), applicant must provide reasons in support thereof. Applicant may submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. Where such evidence or admission is provided by applicant, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
